Cleared Away the Family Troubles.

There is not one thing on earth that could enter a family and do as much honest good and bring as much happiness as in certain cases where coffee drinking is left off and Postum Food Coffee used in its place.

A family in Iowa Park, Texas, furnishes a good illustration. The mother says, "I want to tell you what happened in our family when we left off coffee and took up Postum. He said that he and a friend had visited Cabin John Bridge during the day and were aring to return to this city after 6 o'clock in the evening. They had reached the steps of an incoming car, when suddenly two white men in the rear began crowding into them. Mr. Lawrence said that when he reached his seat in the car he searched for his pocketbook, but it was gone. He then looked around for the two strangers who were crowding him and saw them going down the road on a run. He gave the detectives good descrip-tions of the two men, and the various po-

ATTEMPT TO TEACH THE ORANG-OUTANG

Clark University Professor Seeking the Missing Link.

WORCESTER, Mass., May 5 .- Having ompleted his studies of a pair of monkeys, in which he found evidences of brain power, Dr. A. J. Kinnaman, of Clark University, will begin experiments with an orang-outang in his efforts to find the "missing link." He thinks the orang-outang is nearer to man than any other ani-mal, and can be taught many things that are taught to human beings, perhaps the art of speech.

Dr. Kinnaman tried to put the cries of the monkey into words, but failed. The nearest he could get to it was the kwuich, the cry of distress and fear and hunger, nd nqu-u-w, a less distressed expression. one interesting fact he learned is that the emale monkey was not nearly so quick to earn as the gentleman monkey. He also educed that the monkey can distinguish between shapes and colors.

The most interesting of the experiments was in teaching the monkeys to open oxes with combinations of fastenings Jack learned by imitation and experience one device after another. Jill learned from Jack, but not from Dr. Kinnaman.
